If it weren't for the excellent Career Services Office at Marist College and the wonderful professors and mentors I have had throughout my time as an undergraduate, I would not be where I am today. Both the Career Services team and my professors have acted as my mentors from both my early professional career in internship programs with Comcast and NBCUniversal, but they are continuing to inspire and motivate me in my current position as an NBCUniversal East Coast Page. I am beyond grateful for everything Marist has done for me, as the faculty and staff have opened the door for so many opportunities, especially the door to my dream career in entertainment.

I am very glad that I decided to attend Marist. Marist taught me that no matter what roadblocks come at you, you should never give up. Make sure to reach out to your own support network. You won't always have the answers to everything, so it's okay to stop and ask for guidance from your peers or professors. The people at Career Services assisted with resume building and networking while my professors taught me relevant technical skills. As a result of the help I received, I was able to secure myself an internship which is something I recommend for every student. Without the support I received, I would not be where I am today and I will always be grateful.

As an experiential learner, the opportunities made available to me at Marist truly catered to the way in which I learn best. I was able to study in Washington, D.C. for a semester, gather public opinion working at the Marist Poll, observe what happens on the ground at the New Hampshire Primary, and take on a variety of internships during my studies. Marist is also the place where I made lifelong connections with classmates, friends, and mentors within the Red Fox community. Ultimately, my time at Marist was vital in helping me realize and actualize what I want to do with my life, leading me to pursue graduate studies abroad in the field of comparative public policy.

Marist's staff and faculty's dedication and investment in my growth and learning were instrumental in helping me find a job I love and grow the confidence required to navigate the corporate world for the first time. Through continuous emails about opportunities, networking events, resume workshops, etc., I was able to explore a myriad of career paths and understand what aligned with my interests. Despite me going into a career path outside of my direct field of study, in my four years at Marist I developed useful, transferable skills and a working knowledge about regulatory services allowing for a smooth transition into my first year as a Compliance Risk consultant at a Big Four. I will be forever grateful to Marist College. One's own drive and dedication combined with that of Marist's staff and faculty is truly a force to be reckoned with.

My acceptance into graduate school is an achievement that I attained with help from the incredibly supportive community at Marist. Of course, while it took a lot of hard work and determination, it was truly made easy by my wonderful professors who mentored me, my classmates who worked through challenging projects with me, and the lifelong friends I made who encouraged me along the way. I can safely say Marist has put me on the path to success in becoming a physician assistant!

Marist and its staff have played an integral role in where I am today and who I have become. Professors and faculty who believed in me as a student helped me discover my passions in and outside of the classroom. I was able to intern at three different organizations, including the US Marshals. I took on a research assistant role as a student, a position I have been able to maintain even past graduation. As I prepare for graduate studies at the University of Chicago, I feel incredibly grateful for my time at Marist and for all of the people I met along the way who helped me get to this point in my life.
